

a day for

harper and amie

Harper and Amie, whom we think the world of, are in their early thirties and they just delivered their first child. They are an amazing couple and even yet, better people. They just purchased their first home and their careers as architects were really beginning to soar. They had the world at their feet. They are madly in love... inspiring in love. Then, earlier this summer, Harper started to get strange tremors in his legs so he went to the doctor. Just shortly before the birth of their first child, a beautiful baby girl, Harper was diagnosed with ALS, also known as Lou Gehrig's disease. They are now experiencing the mixed fate of the infinite joy that comes with new life as well as the infinite challenges and hurdles that come with the diagnosis of ALS.
